CHEVROLET SALESMEN 72-CAR MEMBERSHIP

OSHAWA, Ont.,—Two hundred automobile salesmen throughout the Dominion have just celebrated their membership in the Chevrolet "Seventy-two Car Club" by a cruise to the "Thousand Islands or a visit to Banff's wonders—according to whether they live in the East or the West.

The qualifications for membership in the Chevrolet "Seventy-two Car Club" are that the salesmen during a period of one year shall earn seventy-two sales points. Each new Chevrolet sold is worth one point and each used car sold is worth one-half of one point. As might be expected the organization from which two hundred men were able to obtain such a high sales objective, is a large one. It is in fact the largest in Canada, both in point of new cars sold and in point of used cars sold—the Sales Force of Chevrolet in the Dominion.

The "Chevrolet" "Seventy-two Car Club" is a very exclusive organization, but its entrance requirements remain the same for the coming year. Chevrolet's rapidly increasing popularity would make membership much too easy so the 1928-29 organization is to be the Chevrolet "One Hundred Car Club" the salesmen joining, having to earn one hundred points instead of seventy-two. That the membership will be still larger than it has been in 1928 is indicated by the fact that even this year the average number of points obtained by the members this year was 87, almost enough to qualify for the new Club.

Between them the two hundred members of the "Seventy-two Car Club" sold approximately 26,000 new and used cars during the contract year of 1927-28. The men from the smaller towns and cities covered themselves with glory by out-distancing the metropolitan salesmen. For example, the President, Deryl Clapp, with the greatest number of points is from Belleville. The Vice-President, Dick Erb from Calgary. Yet the 26,000 cars the club men sold were only a small proportion of the total year's sales of the Chevrolet organization in Canada.

"The tremendous turnover involved in these record sales of new and used cars, indicates the important place taken in the community by the Chevrolet dealer," said Mr Ross Mackinnon, General Sales Manager. It is worth noting that all these used cars were sold to people to whom the dealers expected to sell new cars later. It is obvious that used cars sold by Chevrolet dealers must therefore be dependable merchandise, which will build goodwill. The volume of business attained indicates that the public has confidence that such is the case.

PROMINENT SPECIALIST CONDUCTING CLINIC

Dr A. M. Skeffington, nationally known Diagnostician and Lecturer will be in Edmonton next week to conduct a series of lectures and clinics by Alberta Optometrists.

While in San Francisco, conducting a clinic, Dr Skeffington, speaking before the Rotary Club on the subject "The Eyes of the Citizen of the Future" said "Thousands of children, who would be successful students and ultimate successes in life, fail yearly through undetected poor eyes."

"The poor grades card, the reluctance to study, the hatred of books constitute the first symptoms of eye trouble, far more than headaches and inability to see" continued Dr Skeffington "If the child goes to sleep at his desk fails to make good grades in his classes, have his eyes examined immediately, for the 'Whole Child' is not there. He is being seriously handicapped by inefficient vision."

"Thousands of children are annually being treated in school, discouraged and being turned toward failure by parents who do not understand the modern eye problem. The child in the fifth grade today is demanding more of his eyes than the greatest philosopher who ever lived before the modern industrial era."

"The eyes of the Citizen of the Future, must be accommodated to the conditions under which we live. Modern men, having subjected Nature and created a mechanical environment must adopt his eyes to it. The child of to-day must be protected and cared for will be the failure of to-morrow."

"The United States paid thirty millions in losses through children put back in schools in 1927. Modern techniques and methods can correct all these problems. The modern slogan is 'Send the Whole Child to School' not a handicapped youngster, doomed to partial or complete failure."

Mr E. L. Cork our local Optometrist stated that Dr Skeffington demonstrated in his clinics and lectures the very latest methods of correcting eyesight defects. Mr E. L. Cork is very much interested in that particular phase of his work and is attending Dr Skeffington's clinics in Edmonton this week.

AIR EXPRESS RATES FOR WEST ARE SET

WAINWRIGHT—The ability to save time by air express was proven when the De Havilland 61, plane of the Western Canada Airways, finally glided to a stop on the grounds of the Kirkfield aerodrome here, carrying several Canadian Pacific Express packages from Edmonton and Saskatoon for delivery in this city.

From Edmonton to Saskatoon the 500 miles was covered in three hours and 45 minutes, which is a saving of several hours. This trial trip has proved to be quite satisfactory, and the officials of the Canadian Pacific Express will inaugurate next month a regular bi-weekly service connecting with arrivals and departures of trains at plane-calling cities here and Edmonton. This air-express service has created considerable interest among business men enabling them to give rapid transport and if necessary to accompany the shipment.

The method of procedure for this service is that the Canadian Pacific Express agent will gather all parcels marked with the air-express stamp and convey them by truck to the airport, where after careful checkings they are turned over to the pilot who after signing a receipt, deposits them in a specially designed cubicle in the lower front part of the plane. Upon arrival in each city the parcels destined for that point are turned over to the express agent for delivery. The scales of charges for this air-express service was issued today from the offices of the Canadian Pacific Express. They are as follows: From Winnipeg to Regina per quarter pound 50 cents, to Calgary 60 cents and to Edmonton 70 cents. From Regina to Calgary per quarter pound 50 cents, to Edmonton 60 cents while from Calgary to Edmonton 40 cents and to Saskatoon 50 cents per quarter pound. Edmonton to Saskatoon is also 40 cents with a charge of 60 from Edmonton to Winnipeg. From Saskatoon to Winnipeg the rate per quarter pound is 50 cents. A minimum charge will be made for a full pound.

These charges will go into effect immediately upon the official establishment of a regular service which is expected shortly.

HAIR LOSS CLAIMS REACH $4,500,000

CALGARY—In addition to the heavy hair losses incurred by the hair insurance board of Alberta as previously announced, hair insurance companies operating in the province have also suffered a net loss of about two million dollars. The total amount paid out in claims has been in the neighborhood of four million dollars. This, with the claims dealt with by the hair insurance board bring the total amount paid out this season to more than four and one-half million dollars. Some of the insurance companies it is stated had been exceptionally heavily hit as they carried a large amount of insurance in the districts that received the brunt of the big storm on August 11.

In face of the large losses last season and again this year it is considered probable that some of the companies will discontinue writing hair insurance in Alberta. Others again are taking their heavy losses smiling in the hope that they will be able to recoup next year.

CANADIAN FIRST TO ENTER THE CHICAGO GRAIN SHOW

Canada has the honor of making the first entry in the competitive classes of the International Grain and Hay Show which will be held at Chicago December 1 to 5, according to the Secretary-Manager B. H. Heide of the International Live Stock Exposition of which the grain show is a leading department. James A. Paer, Laugham, Saskatchewan sent in the first entries of the year. He will exhibit samples of rye and Marquis wheat with which he has been very successful in the past.

The winnings of Canadian farmers at the big show have resulted in bringing the agricultural possibilities of the Dominion to the attention of the entire world and efforts are being made this year to send an even stronger display of grains to the International Show than in former years. Entries may be made without charge but must be in the hands of Manager B. H. Heide October 20. A large number of special awards in addition to the exhibition premiums are offered to the Canadian exhibitors by the provincial governments, railroads and other Canadian business interests.

BEATTY EXPLAINS MERGER METHOD

MONTREAL—The Montreal Star has received the following message from E. W. Beatty, president of the C.P.R. in answer to a request for information as to the procedure to be followed relative to the purchase of the Alberta railways. The message came from President Beatty's train at Sudbury.

"Details of method of administration cannot be determined until the decision of Canadian National railways to join in purchase is made, but it will give no difficulty in view of similar arrangements being very common elsewhere in the United States and Canada. The general scheme would be joint ownership with each of the owning companies nominating half of the directors managing officers, the profits to be divided equally between the owning companies and deficits like wise shared."

TORONTO—The Canadian Pacific railway is prepared to forgo a deficit of the next five years on its newly-acquired Alberta railways. This was stated by E. W. Beatty, president of the railway who reached this city after an eight thousand mile tour of the Canadian west. By the terms of the purchase the Canadian National railways have until the end of the year to decide whether or not they will become joint owners with the C.P.R. in the 900 miles of Alberta railways and the deal is still subject to ratification by the federal government.

Regardless of whether the C.N.R. comes in or not, Mr Beatty said the railways have certain to be deficits but he hoped that they could be converted into a profit within five years.

"I never saw the west looking so well," said the C.P.R. head "I have been going out west twice a year for many years and I have never seen conditions so uniformly good."

"RESURRECTION" NOT A BIBLICAL STORY

Widely read as Leo Tolstoy's classic novel "Resurrection" has been in the past thirty years Edwin Carewe director and co-producer with Inspiration Pictures of the pictureization of which opens at the Elite Theatre on Thursday Friday and Saturday this week discovered innumerable film fans in rural cities of America who believed any film or novel entitled "Resurrection" must be a tale of the Christ Carewe, wrote more than three thousand letters in reply to filmgoers who queried him, while he was directing Rod La Roque and Dolores del Rio in the film, made in California. To him he explained that "Resurrection" is not a religious story, not a biblical tale—and that Leo Tolstoy's flesh-and-blood drama makes splendid reading in any language.

Carewe said that "Resurrection" is simply a very human study of bare souls under the lash of selfish passions, and of great sacrifice to which a higher, cleaner love of man for woman and woman for man, prince and peasant. He told his uninitiated correspondents that the title "Resurrection" referred to the spiritual and moral rebirth of the souls of Prince Dmitri and Katusha Maslova destined in sin The American direct or declared that he had faithfully preserved the spirit and letter of Tolstoy's great novel and that the ending of the picture is the logical ending of the novel, with the moral to be found in the story itself.

Rod La Roque plays the role of Prince Dmitri and Dolores del Rio is Katusha Maslova. The picture is the victim of profaned Leo La Roque's work in "The Ten Commandments" and "Gigolo" remained in Carewe's mind until the hour when he needed an actor of sufficient power and fineness to play Dmitri Maslo del Rio. The person selected was the actor who had played the role of Prince Dmitri in the screen version of "What Price Glory?"

Edwin Carewe personally directed "Resurrection" as well as co-producing it with Inspiration Pictures of which Walter Camp Jr. is president. United Artists Corporation released the film.

FINDING SLACKERS IN HARVESTERS

WAINWRIGHT—"We are just finding out the 'slackers' that's all; and I am quite confident that the majority of the men are making good," declared Hon Robert Forke minister of immigration following a conference regarding British harvesters which he had with Commissioner Thomas Gelliey.

Over 600 men have been sent back to England and possibly 200 more would go back as having failed to make good; but that something like 8,000 British harvesters in western fields who were not being heard from because they were too busy working. He had talked with the physician who had examined 200 of the men sent on their way home and only one out of the lot had been really physically unfit and he was subjected to fits. The others could have worked had they not lacked the will.

Plenty of work.

"There is plenty of work," said Mr Forke mentioning that 1,500 men had been wanted at Regina that morning. He had himself come back all the way from Ottawa to see that the five Britishers on his own farm got a good start. He thought the farmers who cut the wages of British harvesters because of inexperience were being a little "shabby." At the same time he agreed that men new to the work were bound to be inferior to experienced hands.

The minister warmly praised the work of Mr Gelliey in handling affairs at the immigration hall under most trying circumstances. "No one could have done it better," he said.

All physically unfit British harvesters will be returned to the old country. Mr Forke asserted regardless of their desire about remaining here.

Non-Political Commission.

A non-political commission for the supervising of British immigration is not held to be a probability by the minister of immigration. "I do not foresee any definite changes which would relegate the immigration question to a non-political field," he said.

"It is likely that it will continue to be in the hands of whatever government happens to be in power."

THE ALBERTA RED CROSS SITUATION

Since the inauguration of the Peace Time Programme of the Canadian Red Cross, the Alberta Division has spent hundreds of thousands of dollars within the province. This money has been spent in relief work, out-post hospitals, home nursing classes, immigration work, Junior Red Cross in the schools general health education work in connection with the Crippled Children's work on which work alone $160,000.00 has been spent.

A large part of the money spent a quarter of a million, in fact has been given to us in annual grants by the National Office in Toronto, who believe the work the Alberta Division was doing was worthy of that support. The funds at National office however have become depleted, and this year our grant was cut by $15,000.00 and next year we will have to be self-supporting.

This situation leaves the question of the continuance of Red Cross services in Alberta open up to the people of the province. We need $45,000.00 yearly to carry on our work. Over $60,000.00 of that sum must be raised by voluntary contribution. Unless therefore you rally to the support of Red Cross and by each doing his or her share, enable us to raise this amount Red Cross must discontinue the services it has been giving.

This means stopping our immigration and health work, reducing our out-post hospital work, and worst of all curtailing our crippled children's work. Are you willing this should happen?

As President of the Alberta Division I feel that Red Cross Services are too valuable to lose, and I believe that when the people of this province realize that Red Cross must have greater support or it ceases operation, there will be no question of their answer.

There will be a provincial wide campaign starting at once I appeal to all to do their share Give at least $1.00 and become a member; give more if you can. If you would rather you can give a grain donation as all elevator agents will issue cash or storage tick (its in the name of the society and forward them to us for you. Do what you can to assist those in charge in your district and give your membership or donation to them or if you prefer send your membership or donation direct to 407 Civic Block Edmonton.

The main thing is give your support in every possible way. Don't let Red Cross fail!

Yours faithfully
W. Egbert, Lieutenant Governor and President Alberta Division, Red Cross Society.

PUBLISHERS VISIT SOUTHERN ALBERTA

The weekly newspaper editors of the province held their annual convention at Lethbridge last Thursday and Friday. There was a good representation from every part of the province, and a good business and social program had been arranged. From Thursday morning when the convention opened with an address of welcome by Mayor Banerman until Friday afternoon closing with an address by Senator W. A. Buchanan and the reports of the resolutions committee, there was not a dull moment.

Among the features of the convention was an address by Dr R. C. Wallace, the new president of the Alberta university. Dr Wallace outlined his policies and aims as head of the Alberta university stating that the university was the servant of all the people of the province and not only a section of it. While Alberta was primarily an agricultural province, said Dr Wallace, the development of the secondary industries that necessarily are linked up with agriculture and resources such as are found so abundant in Alberta, is just as important. Dr Wallace is a man of the people, a young man and his aims are not on visionary but practical.

The publishers were taken for a drive through the Lethbridge district by members of the Board of Trade and also made a trip by motor to Raymond and were taken through the sugar beet factory located there. The manufacture of sugar from beets is an intricate process and entails infinite care and attention in order to bring out the real quality of sugar from the beets. Experienced guides told of each step in the manufacture of sugar and it required over an hour to go through the immense plant. The plant was being overhauled for the fall run which the guide estimated would be about forty five days. The remainder of the year the plant was practically idle. Sugar beets were worth from $8.00 to $15.00 per ton and it was not uncommon to raise from ten to fifteen tons to the acre. Sugar beets are contracted for by the acre. They are planted in rows and require considerable attention and labor who give them the proper attention are generally rewarded handsomely for their work. Housewives should remember that good sugar is made in Alberta.

Southern Alberta, especially that stretched from Calgary to Lethbridge has had a good crop of wheat this year. Acres and acres as far as the eye can see the stalks are standing ready for the thrasher, or where the combines are used, are grain lies in long rows, cut by the sheaves, drying out, getting prepared for the combines. These machines are rapidly gaining in use in the southern part of the province.

Lethbridge itself is a city of 12,000 that is a monument to the foresight and optimism of those who founded it and made their homes there. Leth.

DON JUAN

Novel by
INEZ SABASTIAN

Copyright 1926, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.
"Don Juan", screen play by Bess Meredyth, starring John Barrymore, is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel

It was a royal battle that followed for Don Juan as good a swordman as any man in Rome. He was amazed to find that this opponent of his was even better than he. After a moment he realized that he was fighting for his life a thing he had never before been forced to do. From the shadow of the bushes Adriana, her maid and her father watched breathlessly And Varanese realizing what would have happened if this new friend had not come to their rescue gave thanks to his God for the entrance of the young Spaniard into his life.

Don Juan's cape was still fastened across his chin; his hat was still drawn low over his eyes. Don Juan had no idea who this man with such demoniacal skill might be or how he knew that it was not Varanese as he knew that the man was quite likely to make short work of him.

Varanese redoubled his effort, yet he was glad that the man who had been carrying the pataquin had run ahead to his palace to bring help in the torch. They would come soon now.

A sharp exclamation from Don Juan as his sword clattered to the ground. He stood holding his right hand which was bleeding. And Juan had drawn the cape back from his face and watched his hat from his head and stood there in the bright moonlight smiling but there was no mirth in his smile only a bitter humor.

"Pretty speeches—sometimes—have points my lord!" he was saying to Don Juan.

Furiously Don Juan lunged towards him. In the moment he would have torn Juan to pieces with his bare hands had it been possible. But torches borne swiftly down the road were mingling their light with the whiteness of the moon, and he realized that safety for him lay only in flight. He turned and ran to his horse followed by all but one of his hired murderers. That one lay on the ground mortally wounded.

And Juan smiling made no effort to follow but stood with his blood-stained sword still drawn watching his foe depart.

Adriana and her father ran to him the girl to stammer her thanks the man to try vainly to express him Juan belittled his own efforts in their behalf quite sincerely. To him so far as the danger of it went, it was merely another interesting adventure.

But something that was not danger had entered into this affair. Looking down at Adriana unable to tear his gaze from her lovely face Juan longed to thank her and her father instead of letting them thank him for his moment that had brought them closer to gether.

He did not know then that he loved her. Yet she was more than just another lovely girl whom he would take for his own. Had he thought for an instant that he was really to care for her he would have rushed from the spot even more wildly than Don Juan had.

One of Varanese's men spoke to him just then and he turned away. Adriana looked straight up into Juan's eyes. Her lovely voice trembled with emotion as she said:

"My Lord is there not something I can do to prove my boundless gratitude?"

Into his eyes came the expression that had brought him the hearts of many women. His lids drooped heavily his eyes smiled a little caressingly. But Adriana did not read the meaning of that gaze. Her innocence came to her. "You have but to name it," she urged. I pledge my word.

Juan smiled a little smile that flickered over his lips a smile that had in it something of the look on a cat's face when it sees a saucer of cream. As Adriana's innocence kept her from reading his eyes so his lack of faith in all women kept him from understanding what lay behind her words.

"Later—he whispered meaningly. Wide eyed she replied to him.

At any time she said and the liveliness of her face should have told him then that at last he had met a girl who was different from any other he had known. He took her hand in his raised it to his lips his eyes still off her face. And somehow he could not help feeling a bit regretful that she could not have remained as fair and allusive as the moonlight in which he had seen her instead of being just one more woman who would fall into his arms the moment he asked.

Had anyone warned him that he was mistaken and that the mistake might tear from him what would be more precious than life itself he would have returned.

Varanese laughed to his daughter's side at that moment. Juan glanced at her significantly bade them both farewell and calling Pedrillo took his leave.

He was smiling as he left them and Pedrillo noting that smile smiled also. How well he knew what lay just ahead he told himself. Among the way all these women without any exception at all fell for Don Juan! Pedrillo wished that he had half the luck.

Meanwhile Lucretia Borgia impatiently pacing the floor could hardly believe the truth that was so ugly and so startling. Never before had a man treated her as this Juan had. Never before had she been the one kept waiting when a rendezvous had been arranged. Impossible that this should happen to her Lucretia Borgia the most powerful woman in Europe and the most beautiful according to what everyone told her. She grew more and more angry. Her favorite day a delicate looking little Italian greyhound left his embroidered silken cushion to run to her. Hardly pausing Lucretia lifted one shapely foot in its long pointed slipper and kicked him viciously. Then angrily she strode down the long room turned and went out on to the balcony and searched the courtyard with her eyes.

But nowhere was there any sign of Juan.

Adriana too was walking about her bedroom. But she moved peacefully. Her room was painted the blue of the sky and the ceiling stars of pale gold were painted. Tall candles burned in heavy golden stands and although the hanging were drawn back so that the night air poured in across the balcony the scented air of that spring night moved gently by that the candles' flames flickered not at all.

Rina Adriana's maid removed the lovely white gown with its weight of pearls smothering a yawn as she did so. Instantly Adriana came out of her dreams for a moment. "Go to bed," she urged the girl I would sit alone awhile. Rina who had cared for her young mistress so many years that she dared be familiar smiled as she spoke.

"I too think the Spaniard is most handsome she remarked, shyly and then hurried away to her own bed. Adriana flushed almost guiltily, then left alone went straight to her mirror. Was she beautiful? she asked her reflection. I wish she looked like the brilliant young Spaniard!

Had he thought her fair? Critically she tried to judge her own loveliness and sighed not realizing that in all Juan's travels his eyes had rested on no as beautiful as she.

She could not understand the emotion that swept through her when she thought of him.

"Don Juan," she whispered to herself and felt as if waves flowed through her veins, exhilarating her, making her want to sing, to laugh, and then oddly enough to cry a little. How wonderful he had been fighting there in the moonlight with Don Juan! How handsome some men were.

Later he had said when she asked if he could not do something to show her gratitude. Later—that night would mean that she would see him again quite soon, in a few days perhaps; perhaps—why it might be tomorrow.

Dreaming there before her mirror she planned what she would wear the next day when she went to church in order to look her best just on the chance that she might meet him. Again she studied herself in the candle light mirror. Like nine girls out of every ten she approved of her eyes, rather liked her mouth, but felt quite dissatisfied with her nose, not knowing what a pretty little nose it was.

"Don Juan," she whispered to herself again and again that exquisite warm buoyant feeling surged up through all her being.

A slight noise made her turn. There in the door opening onto the balcony stood Juan.

"If I am late a thousand pardons be drawn!

For a moment she could not realize what had happened. She thought that she must be imagining his presence. But he moved a little, smiled,

At last she found her voice. "Why are you here—at this hour?" she demanded. And her hands like frightened birds flew to her bare throat, tried to cover her scantily clad body.

Annoyed, Juan frowned. Then he lifted her eyebrows inquiringly. Just why was she making all this pretense of surprise at his being here? Was she the sort of girl who turned coy at such a moment? Or could it be that she was unlike the others?

Turning he closed and barred the windows and door leading to the balcony. Then he crossed the room swiftly to the girl's side. She drew away from him, crying "Please go!" But he only caught her hand and kissed it murmuring "Your little hand is like a trembling dove!"

Adriana was too frightened in that moment even to move. She stood staring at him as his eyes traveled up her bare arm to her shoulder down over her body, back to her face. Then suddenly he caught her to him and pressed his lips hard against hers.

Wildly she wrenched herself from his grasp and backed away from him to the door. Breathlessly she cried over and over "Please go—please go!" But Juan smiling followed her.

"You promised to reward me he told her. 'Are you trying to break that promise because you fear your swordsmanship friend?"

At first she did not know what he meant. Then realizing that he thought she was Don Juan's mistress she cried frantically "No! No!" Juan took her in his arms again despite her protests.

"You'll keep your word to me, do you hear?" he exclaimed. I'm not afraid of your lover.

Adriana felt as if he had torn the heart from her body. He was smiling cruelly now bending down to kiss her. His lips stilled the protests hers were murmuring Amusement mingled with the ardor of his love making. Twice in one night he had fooled Don Juan!

Adriana's body stiffened in his arms. He relaxed his grasp interested to see just what she would do next. What a little actress she was!

Adriana's knees shook beneath her but stumbling she reached a table on which lay some trinkets her father had brought her from Venice. Among them was a dagger, a slender, marvelously wrought thing with a jeweled hilt. She caught it up and faced him again.

The cut above was reproduced from a collection of photographs plus a little art work, and it came about this way. There was a need for an illustration to brighten and balance the page. So we looked through the files. The photograph of the new Canadian Pacific engine came to light first, but, while it illustrates the largest passenger engine in the British Empire, our readers already knew all about it. Put it on one side! Then we saw the picture of the or which is engaged in shunting freight cars at Trieste. "This we thought we could tie up to the engine in some way, but when we saw the photograph of the elephant at Kandy, we thought that it would be much better and easier to write a feature on, say, "power" or "World transport!" The African Zulu with the Ricksha would have helped a story of this nature, but when we saw the beautiful curves of the Lungwa Pagoda and the graceful lines of the Moon Arch in the garden of the Jade Tree Studio at Shanghai we thought that perhaps we could make an appeal of sorts to the cultural side of our readers. But the office boy was very keen on the locomotive, the maker's man thought he could design a better lay-out with just the animals, and our fair-haired stenographer considered the architecture more artistic.

We compromised by deciding to make a three-column instead of a two-column lay-out and using them all. What then remained was to tie them up in some way, so we got out our beat-looking photograph of the "Empress of France," and—there you have a complete short story. One gets aboard a Canadian Pacific train first and at New York boards a Canadian Pacific steamship for the ports and sights of the world. The "Empress of France" doesn't really belong to the set, because this year she will not make a cruise, but, here she is last year at Rio de Janeiro. The "Empress" is replaced in cruise service by a "Duquesne." Not that this makes a great deal of difference to your editor, but there are many, readers of this page too, who will spend Christmas in the Holy Land, and cherry-blossom time in Japan. They will tour the West Indies in comfort in January or February. They will spend the winter in luxury travelling round South America and South Africa, round the world or round the Mediterranean. They have shown us their booklets, and before Spring is here again they will be showing us their tan and their souvenirs.

A Real School of Experience

By Dr. ARTHUR L. FORSTER

During the past summer a unique course was conducted at the Ashland School for Adult Education, Grand Rapids Michigan, for the purpose of studying life's problems. According to an announcement published by the school the method of the new system of education is founded on that of the Grundtvigian schools of Northern Europe

Who is Eligible

Any person over eighteen years of age who is a high school or college graduate, and who is interested in meeting life's problems and perplexities, is eligible

That this would make hundreds of thousands of individuals qualified for admission there can be no question. The world is full of square pegs in round holes, and round pegs in square holes. In other words, a large percentage of people are engaged in a vocation to which they are entirely unsuited. Not along that, but most people do not know how to live until they are ready to die.

Any school that can place a man or woman in the niche that person is supposed to fill and teach him how to order his every day life and meet its problems intelligently, is certainly doing the community a vast service and is entitled to every measure of sympathy and support that may be given

What is Taught

Ordinary academic work is not part of the curriculum. The subjects offered are the adjustments confronted in life, such as occupation, education, economics, marriage, home sex, play, leisure, community life, and so on.

We know that most psychoses (abnormalities of the mind) are brought about and characterized by an inability of the individual to adjust himself to his surroundings. He is unable to meet problems effectively and harmonize himself with his environment and everything that forms a part of it. Many potential psychotics will be cured in this school.

Nature of the Course

A week is devoted to discussion of each of the above subjects. During this time students are asked to relate their personal problems and worries in that particular phase of human experience, following which there are discussions based on the generalizations derived from these personal experiences. Lectures and readings on these topics are a part of the program.

There is no question that many will come away from this summer school minus some of the complexes to which they had previously clung so tenaciously. When people find that others have had the same experiences and problems and worries that they have suffered these will lose much of their "personal" charm and become so much mist. The best way to get rid of unpleasant complexes by those unable to live in peace with them, is to drag them out into the daylight where everybody can see them and peck at them until there is nothing left.

Good Done by Such a School

I venture the opinion that fundamentally this is the basis for much of the good that is bound to accrue to those who attend this and similar schools. The person of an introspective and self-conscious nature is going to develop a healthy outlook in the place of a morbid outlook, after a few weeks' attendance at such a school.

There may be a few who will be done more harm than good, just as some people are made worse by association with sick people at a sanatorium. But for the vast majority it cannot fail to be helpful. It will point out to them their right way to meet life's problems; how to judge between the worth-while and the worthless; how to live normally. They will be whittled into a shape that will make them fit, or correctly framed places made for them.

There is only one way to make life more easily lived—to take out some of its resistance—by teaching people who are thrust into the world without their knowledge or bidding how to overcome its handicaps, meet its hazards, and conquer its hardships. Those who are able to do this, sail through satisfactorily. Those who can't make a mess of it.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Sauerkraut Juice

M.B.C. writes: "We hear a great deal nowadays about sauerkraut juice being so good for stomach trouble. Is there any truth in this? How much should one take in a day?"

Yes, sauerkraut juice is very beneficial in derangements of the stomach and intestines. Six or eight ounces a day is sufficient for the average adult. Sometimes that amount acts as a rather active purgative, in which event it is necessary to reduce the daily intake.

BE FAIR!

If you have disease germs in your system keep them to yourself. You do not get rid of them by passing a few on to someone else. If you have a cold, keep it to yourself. Be fair; protect others from disease in the same way that you expect them to protect you. It is not easy, living as most of us do, to keep out of reach of the other person's germs. It is only fair that we should all do our best to limit their spread.

To begin with, there are certain simple habits of what we might call ordinary decency that everyone can practise, and which would do much to prevent the spread of disease germs. The first is to use the handkerchief to sneeze and to cough into if the sneeze or cough catches one unawares, the head can be lowered and the sneeze or cough directed at the ground, rather than into the faces of those around.

The next step is never to use a common drinking cup, common towel or common wash-cloth. The reason is that such articles become soiled with body secretions and it is in these secretions that the disease germs leave the body and may be transferred to another person.

It should not be necessary to warn against such obvious dangers as using the saliva to moisten the handkerchief to clean the baby's face, or to give the baby something off the fork or spoon that has been in someone's mouth.

There is one important practice for everyone and that is the washing of hands before eating. Our hands become soiled. We should train ourselves to keep them away from our faces. We should never touch food without having thoroughly washed the hands. In this practice lies much of our means of protecting ourselves from communicable disease.

Questions concerning Health addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College Street, Toronto, will be answered by letter. Questions as to diagnosis and treatment will not be answered.

WHAT IS WRITTEN

— IS THE LAW

Of course you know that ignorance of the law is not accepted as an excuse for violating the law. It is your business to know the automobile code of your State and the municipal ordinances of your city. Not only that, but you are supposed to know the laws and ordinances of any State or city through which you may be driving.

Did you ever consider what the law says about the right of pedestrians on the highway? Don't take it for granted that you have all the right of way and that it is up to the pedestrian to hop when you blow. You need only to bump into one such pedestrian to discover that he has a whole bookful of right that you are bound to observe and that you play safe only when you make sure the pedestrian sees or hears you. This is not merely courtesy. It is the law.

It often is thought that the necessity for keeping to the right when you meet a vehicle or passing it on the left when you overtake it, comprises a sort of unwritten law. Look in the law.

It is written, not unwritten. The law tells you where you belong on the road and where you stand if anything happens because you got into the wrong place.

Don't take any chances by allowing members of the family too young by law to drive the car without being accompanied by a qualified adult. Don't allow guests or friends to take a chance. Investigate what your State law says and also what your insurance policies cover before letting any one but yourself get behind the steering wheel. Don't violate the law or take chances just to be accommodating.

The wise motorist will write to the Secretary of State in any outside State in which he is to travel and get a copy of that state's motor vehicle laws and familiarize him self with their important features, but first of all he will get a copy of the law for his home State and find out what provisions are contained in that law which are not familiar to him. The best preventive of troubles is observance of the letter of the law, and the first step in this direction is to read the law.

The little trouble you save by that neglect will be of small account when compared with the trouble brought on by your neglect.

NATION BUILDING

(By Bishop G. E. Lloyd)

INFLOW AND OUTFLOW

The immediate objective of all good loyal Canadians should be the abrogation of the Railway Agreement by which the country is being flooded with "unpreferred" Continentals. There are others also who while placed upon the "preferred" list by the Department of Immigration are really as undesirable as the so-called "unpreferred."

The Immigration Investigation Committee at Ottawa made it abundantly clear that they did not like the

"Agreement" and expressed the opinion that it should not be renewed at least in its present form

Premier King in his Brandon speech announced his intention of following the advice of the Investigation Committee. But, is that sufficient? Are we to have a deluge of these unsatisfactory Continentals for another two years and a half, simply to make the railways pay? Why should the Canadian Pacific and the National Railway be allowed to go on with this work of National demoralization when all the evidence says this Continental flood should be stopped at once. Apparently the railways will not give up that "Railway Agreement" until they are compelled to do so by the force of public opinion

In spite of the adverse judgment of the Ottawa Investigation Committee the railway companies are still dumping in their flood of undesirable Continentals. The official figures show that during the four months of April, May, June and July just passed we have had no less than 52,535 foreigners brought into this country while only 27,982 Old Country British men aged to get through the restrictive regulations. These 52,000 foreigners were made up of no less than forty-two different nations a regular hodge-podge out of which no reasonable man could think of making a homogeneous nation

The second objective of all good Canadians should be to stop the outflow of good Canadian blood going over the border to the United States. A large portion of those who are crossing the line to the south are our own Canadian boys who are being elbowed out by this influx of undercurrent, work snatching flood of Jews, Italians, Poles, Greeks, Ukrainians etc

Most of this OUTFLOW will automatically cease as soon as we apply a Quota law to these undesirable Continentals. When once the Quota has been applied manufacturers, mine owners and railway contractors will be compelled to look to the resident population of Canada for their manpower instead of cozening the Minister of Immigration for "permits" to bring in cheap labour for their private work. This cheap labor does not stay cheap very long, and thus every year a new stream has to be brought in

The blood of the country is being cheapened and our own good material is being driven to the U.S.A. by this system. In the long run it is better for Canada to keep her own boys at home and pay them forty dollars a month rather than let them be turned adrift because a Galician or a Pole can be had for fifteen or twenty dollars a month. When our cities are filled with Continentals who will sleep twenty in a room on the floor the Canadian worker is soon driven out. Such cut-throat competition should not be and every Canadian shares the guilt for allowing it to go on. The outflow will cease when the Continental inflow is stopped by the abrogation of the Railway Agreement and the adoption of a Quota Law similar to the U.S.A.

YOUR HEALTH

ON YOUR TRIP

One of the greatest truths in the world is conceded by all to be that when big hearted outdoor-loving men and women go to the mountains, the lakes, the desert or the woods they are going into God's own country where kindly Nature will smile upon and protect them, and if they do not fare well it is probably on account of a too prolonged stay in the stuffy steamheated office or of shattered nerves and lowered vitality, the result of dodging traffic and crabbing about it

By the way of things to avoid let your natural instinct guide you. If you feel you not to do rash things, the foremost of which is picking and eating unknown fruits and vegetables a long the highways. Another great factor that has always meant every thing in the success of a trip of this kind is to remember only one date—the one of your arrival home—Don't have any appointments and don't make any. Follow only your inclinations—eat, sleep, fish, hunt, travel and loaf until you have had enough of each—then start all over again if you feel like it

By way of honest-to-goodness information I am going to tell you the names of eight articles that have always made up the medical kit on all the trips I have made by motor train or foot power on any kind of a trail and at any season: One-half ounce tincture of iodine; one ounce carbolic acid; three gauze bandages 3 in. by 10 yards; one pair of scissors; one tin of forceps or tweezers; three ounces of Rochelle salts; one bottle's vasoline

Any kind of wound whether caused by fish hook, gnat bite, or a slide down the embankment can be cleaned of large particles of foreign material with the forceps. Bathe it well with a mixture of one teaspoonful of carbolic acid to a pint of water (preferably warm) Then drop just enough iodine on it to cover. Apply bandages and fix with adhesive plaster. As a general precaution, take a tablespoon of Rochelle salts (in water) to stimulate elimination in case an infection develops. Burns are very common accidents and the pain of them will instantly stop upon anointing with vasoline

FATIGUE CAUSES MOTOR ACCIDENTS

Investigations have shown there is not much difference between the reactions of a person who is thoroughly fatigued and one who has become inebriated from imbibing alcoholic stimulants. In both cases the vision is blurred thought is confused, the senses dulled and a lack of co-ordination exists between the will and the muscles

For a much longer period than in the case of traffic accidents records have been kept in the industries. Not only have records been kept but a close study of causes has also been made. These show a direct relation between the accident rate and the severity rate tion between the accident rate and the severity rate and fatigue. The greater the fatigue of the workers, the greater the accident rate and the greater the severity rate

Although the records are not so complete in regard to motor car accidents, it does not require very much investigation to indicate beyond a question of a doubt that fatigue causes the deaths of many motorists. As a matter of fact, anyone who will stop to think can recall cases where fatigue was undoubtedly the cause of serious accidents

Man can accomplish some amazing feats but no man nor no woman can keep going for long without food, water and sleep. Food to him is what gas and oil are to the automobile engine. It is the material from which the power and the lubrication come. Water is as necessary to man as it is to an automobile radiator. Without water he dries up, becomes overheated and dies. KEEPING TRACK OF RUNNING EXPENSES

Most motorists do not keep track of their running expenses because they imagine that it requires a lot of time and energy. But those who employ such a system in the management of their cars regard it as a long time investment. For instance, as I always make the entry in my car record book while watching the garage attendant fill up the gas tank the matter of keeping account really requires no time at all for I would watch to see that I was getting full measure anyway. When the bill arrives from the garage there is never any time wasted in disputes on account of overcharges, because the garage man knows that my record is as accurate as his. As a matter of fact he has upon several occasions made his takes, and has consulted my little memorandum book in order to straighten out his own records. A number of motorists at the garage are always having arguments about their bills; and, as a consequence, waste more time while the garage man goes through his ledger than would be required to clean out the strainer in the vacuum tank.

Keeping track of running expenses is not necessarily a matter of finding out how much it costs to motor but mainly a means of keeping a close check on the gasoline mileage which in turn is an excellent index of the condition of the motor and chassis. When my gasoline mileage suddenly fell below normal last month I discovered that the fan belt was slipping and that the motor was overheating. There is economy in trying to make tires last as long as possible but when they are too old and you are motoring with the idea of "getting there" it pays to forego the use of the fag end of the tire's service.

A friend of mine recently ruined a whole trip by trying to economize on rubber. To cap the climax necessity forced him to purchase from a roadside garage the sort of tire he didn't want but had to have. It was like throwing money away, but it was the only alternative—considering that he insisted upon getting the last mile out of the old tire.

Realizing that time is the prime consideration in care care, manufacturers are constantly on the alert to improve design so that it is easier to keep track of running expenses. The

2 tablespoons butter

½ cup fine bread crumbs
Cut a slice from stem end of pepper remove seeds and parboil 5 minutes. Drain and sprinkle inside with salt. Heat food chopper in boiling water; then put raisins through using medium cutter. To raisins add chopped onion, ground meat cooked rice, salt and poultry seasoning. Fill peppers with mixture. Melt butter, stir in crumbs, then cover peppers with crumbs. Place in baking pan with a little hot water to prevent burning. Cover and bake half an hour in a moderate oven. Remove cover and brown. Serve hot with brown or tomato sauce.

DELICIOUS VEAL

Use veal steak one-half inch thick Cut into pieces large enough for a serving. Beat the yolk of one egg and add a teaspoon or more of water into this dip the veal; then roll in bread crumbs which have been toasted and well seasoned with salt and pepper. Have an iron spider piping hot with about one-fourth inch hot fat in the bottom. Put the veal quickly on both sides until a nice brown, then cover the veal with hot milk (a pint or more of sour cream may also be used). Cover tightly and set in a slow oven for about one hour, removing the lid for the last fifteen minutes.

RASPBERRY JUNKET WITH PEACHES AND CREAM

- 1 pkg raspberry junket
- 2 tablespoons powdered sugar
- Sliced peaches, sweetened
- 1 pint milk
- 1 cup cream
- Almond extract

Warm the milk slightly dissolve in it the junket powder and pour each dessert glass nearly full. Let set until firm then chill in ice box. Whip cream and sugar with an egg beater until stiff. At serving time fill up the glasses with the sliced and sweetened peaches and decorate top with the cream.

STUFFED HEART

- Beef heart
 - 1 cup cracker crumbs
 - ½ cup white sauce
 - 1 cup roasted chestnuts
 - salt and pepper to taste
- Wash the heart thoroughly inside and out. Stuff with dressing made from ingredients given above and sew up opening of the heart. Cover with water and boil ten minutes then simmer until tender. Remove heart from water one-half hour before serving and sprinkle with cracker crumbs, salt and pepper. Bake until brown.

motorist who wants to have his car give him the maximum amount of uninterrupted service must work out a system of his own for taking care of it. If by the addition of a certain system in his office it is possible to do more work in less time, surely some thing on the same order can be tried with the car with reasonable assurance of success.

Build your granary NOW! The big crop in all three provinces is bound to cause car shortage and grain congestion and you will need a dry place to store your crop. THE WARNERS SIGN JOHN BARRYMORE

John Barrymore is to be again a Warner Bros. star! Harry Warner, president of the producing firm, in announcing the signing of the most important player contract of the season, added "he was delighted over the fact that the actor would make his first picture for his firm. The news that Barrymore would return to Warner fold was foreboded a week or so ago when it was announced from Hollywood that the actor was holding 'conversations' with Jack L. Warner, the executive producing chief. It was known that the actor, seeing the trend of the times, was anxious to appear in talking pictures. Inasmuch as the Warners control Vitaphone, most successful of all the synchronizing enterprises, and have had infinitely more experience in the making of talking pictures than all of the other firms in the industry combined, it was said that Barrymore would return to the firm with which he has his greatest triumphs on the screen.

According to Harry M. Warner, Barrymore will return to the Warner studios to make a talking picture, in which the voice that charmed so many people who saw him in 'Carmen' and 'The Great Train Robbery' will be heard through the medium of Vitaphone. It is felt that talking screen will show the most charming sides of Barrymore's art and that therefore his greatest success will be in the future.

GRAIN

Market at Winnipeg yesterday (Wednesday) held firm and at the close a slight advance was registered. BUTTERFAT — BUTTER — MILK CREAM—Prices advanced 1c during past week, thus making special 43c; first 41c and second 38c with country point values 3c lower. Receipts are falling off due to less cream arriving. Demand within province continues active, so that there is little storing or shipping carried on DAIRY BUTTER—Market is steady with light deliveries. Parsy table in demand with other grades slow. MILK—Market price was due to advance on Sunday September 16th, but no definite price has yet been fixed.

POULTRY — EGGS

POULTRY—Receipts are light this week; farmers are too busy with harvest operations to ship. Many offer eggs especially fresh, are in decidedly poor shape and have to be fattened before turning over. Chicken in fair condition. Good demand prevailing. EGGS Deliveries are exceptionally small with a very active demand.

Smilin' Charlie Say

"Th' wise man gains from a fool's advice—th' fool gets nothing from a wise man's advice—both of which seems impossible!"

Storage stocks are being heavily drawn on at present to fill orders. Prices range from unchanged to 3c higher this week.

POTATOES

Digging now progressing rapidly with gardeners, but farmers have not started yet, being too busy with harvest. Looks as if demand will have to come from within the province to handle stocks, as no outside market seems available, however, this situation may change shortly.

HAY — GREENFEED — CATS

HAY—Supply light as farmers have no time to deliver hay, being busy in the harvest fields. Demand in the city is fairly active but outside orders are slow. Quality of offerings good. Ends of last year's cutting are coming. The demand is active.

Here and There

(123) Tourist traffic to Saint John this season is the largest in its history, and so far is equal if not greater than during the whole of last season. Tourists started arriving earlier this spring, and have continued in much larger numbers than in other seasons.

Colonel Scott, who is successfully producing tulip bulbs at Salmon Arm, British Columbia, believes that the industry has a future. He has one acre under this production with drying, cleaning and storage sheds. He grows fifty-two varieties of bulbs and has about a quarter of a million bulbs on hand growing.

The Alberta Amateur Champion-ship will take place shortly at Banff, Alberta, where the annual Highland Gathering and Scottish Musical Festival is being held from August 31 to September 3. An elaborate programme has been arranged of a Scottish character, many of the athletic contests being peculiar to that race, such as tossing the caber and putting the shot.

Plans are reported to be on foot among sheep raisers to establish in Vancouver a wool grading centre similar to that functioning in Trenton, Ontario, where at present most of the wool business of Canada is conducted. An authority states this would probably have the result of increasing the returns to the producer from 25 to 50 per cent.
